

Butterfield Announces 2021 Scholarship Recipients

Aug 19 2021

Hamilton, Bermuda—19 August 2021: Butterfield, the leading offshore bank and trust company, has announced the recipients of its 2021 scholarship programme.

Butterfield offers more than $150,000 to university students every year through six scholarships which are tenable for up to four academic years – representing a potential investment of more than $600,000 in each annual cohort of scholars. The criteria for selection includes academic achievement, financial need and community involvement.

The 2021 undergraduate scholars are:

- Tierrai Tull who receives $25,000 per year for the duration of her course having been awarded the Sir Harry D. Butterfield Undergraduate Scholarship, established in 1978 to benefit Bermudian students in honour of Butterfield's late Chairman. Tierrai is studying for a bachelor's degree in International Relations at the University of Toronto, Canada
- Javon Lewinson, from the Cayman Islands, who has been awarded $30,000 per year for the duration of his course with the Butterfield Undergraduate Scholarship, established in 1993 in celebration of Butterfield's 25th anniversary in the Islands. Javon is pursuing a Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery degree at the University of the West Indies in Jamaica
- Isaiah Wales who receives $25,000 per year for the duration of his course having been awarded the Butterfield Undergraduate Scholarship for Employees' Children (Atlantic), one of three regional scholarships for children of Butterfield employees. Isaiah is studying for a bachelor's degree in Sociology at Queen's University, Canada
- Ramon Russell who has been awarded $25,000 per year for the duration of his course with the Butterfield Undergraduate Scholarship for Employees' Children (Caribbean). Ramon is from The Bahamas and pursuing a Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery degree at the University of the West Indies Open Campus Bahamas
- Caitlin Torode, from Guernsey, who receives $25,000 per year for the duration of her course having been awarded the Butterfield Undergraduate Scholarship for Employees' Children (European). She is studying for a Bachelor of Science degree in Sports & Exercise Science at the University of Surrey in the UK

This year's Butterfield Postgraduate Scholarship, which is open to students from all ten Butterfield jurisdictions around the world who are studying disciplines related to the preservation and improvement of island environments, was awarded to Noralesha Martin from The Bahamas who receives $25,000 per year for the duration of her course. Noralesha is studying a master's degree in Energy Systems Management at the University of San Francisco, having graduated from the University of The Bahamas with a bachelor's degree in Small Island Sustainability: Environment and Ecosystems Management - Marine Science.

Andrew Burns, Butterfield's Group Head of Human Resources, said, "Congratulations to all our well-deserving scholars. We wish them the best and look forward to following their achievements. Our scholarship programme is something we are proud of and, together with our graduate trainee programme and summer internships, we hope to empower young people to pursue their career aspirations in the financial services industry and beyond. Butterfield has been investing in education for the last 43 years, starting in Bermuda and expanding across all the communities we call home. In the last four years, we have given more than $2 million and remain committed to doing our part going forwards."

Applications for the 2022 scholarship programme open later this year in December. For more information on scholarships and other career opportunities, please visit www.butterfieldgroup.com.